OBITUARY. John H. Cranston.

With surprise and sincere regret will the many friends of John H. Cranston learn of his death, which occurred peacefully at his home, No. 198 West Thames street, about 7.30 o'clock Wednesday evening. For some time he had not been in good health, time he had not been in good health, though he was able to be about and was at church on Sunday, Monday he suffered a paralytic shock which brought about the end,

John H. Cranston was born in Mystic September 12, 1836, the son of Christopher H. and Priscilla Niles Cranston. His father died when Mr. Cranston was about 12 years of age tennis tournament at the Norwich Roque and Tennis club grounds was Roque and Tennis ciub grounds was played early Wednesday morning, giving Allyn L. Brown a win in straight sets over J. Ralph Howe. The loser got but a single game in each set, the score of the match being 6-1, 6-1. This puts Brown, Olcott and Symington as the three who have reached the second round. There are five matches in the first round yet to be played off. Cranston was about 12 years of age and he was obliged to leave school and go to work to support the family. He was one of six children and was He was one of six children and was able to get no schooling after leaving the district school, except what he was able to gain evenings. He went to work for the Standard Machine Co. at Mystic, where he learned the trade of machinist, and where practically all his time was put in until coming to Norwich in the summer of 1866. His first employment here was with C. R. Rogers in the Pequot Machine matches in the first round yet to be played off.

On the grounds Wednesday afternoon, a feature match was on between Brown and Olcott, although it was only a practice game. Brown was in fairly invincible form and swept through the first two sets like a whirlwind, winning 6-2 and 6-1. In the third set Brown made it 4-1 fin the third set Brown made it 4-1 fin B. Mention was made of the special campaign in October throughout the country to keep up the impression of the Jubilee meetings of last year. A plea was made for added subscriptions to Life and Light, that more intelligence regarding missions and more gence regarding missions and more prayer for their success might result. Letters from Rev. E. H. Smith of Ing-hok, China, were read by his mother, Mrs. O. S. Smith. He writes of the cheer of letters from home friends and speaks of the new school building to which many here have contributed. Many times because of the intense heat he near-y rainted in the old, close class rooms, but now they are enjoying the completed part of the building. "God is hearing prayof the building. "God is hearing pray-er for them. The fact that others are er for them. The fact that others ar-giving and praying counts in some mysterious way to upbuild in the live of these boys Christian character. Christian purpose and aims." Two interesting accounts were given toward the close, telling or the en-thusiasm shown in other places regarding missionary work. News from Various Points.
